安須杜の岩山(Formation process of Ashimui rock mountain)

A fault occurred at the boundary between the continental layer about 200 million years ago (Chichibu belt) and the Philippine Sea plate about 20 million years ago(Shimanto belt), and the continental layer was uplifted and formed the cliffs.

The rock mountain of Ashimui is composed of limestone, called karst, that has become the present unique shape after many years of erosion.

The superb view of the stone forest make it feel that Ashimui is a sacred holy place.
